BREAKING – 30,305 people died within 21 days of having a Covid-19 Vaccine in England during the first 6 months of 2021 according to ONS data

Official Office for National Statistics data has inadvertently revealed that 30,305 people have died within twenty-one days of having a Covid-19 vaccine in England during the first 6 months of 2021.

Dozens of ²²freedom of information requests (https://www.whatdotheyknow.com/request/deaths_for_any_reason_within_28_34) have been made to Public Health England (PHE) over the past few months requesting to know how many people have died within 28 days of having a Covid-19 vaccine, but each and every time PHE have claimed they do “not hold the information requested”.

receiving the vaccination against coronavirus, for any reason, in England only.

Please can this include the dates from the start of the vaccination roll out to today's date, 29th April 2021.

Yours faithfully,

It is extremely strange to find that PHE do not hold the information considering their counterpart in Scotland has been able to publish the data on deaths within 28 days of a Covid-19 vaccination.

Public Health Scotland last published the figures (https://beta.publichealthscotland.scot/media/8183/21-06-23-covid19-publication_report.pdf) on the 23rd June 2021 in their 'Covid-19 Statistical Report' (https://beta.publichealthscotland.scot/media/8183/21-06-23-covid19-publication_report.pdf) in which they revealed 5,522 people had died within 28 days of having a Covid-19 vaccine between December 8th 2020 and June 11th 2021 in Scotland.

Public Health Scotland

Between 8 December 2020 and 11 June 2021, a total of 5,522 people died within 28 days of receiving a COVID-19 vaccine in Scotland (number of days between vaccine and death is 0-27, where 0 is the day of vaccination, all age groups). A breakdown of these deaths by day and vaccine type is available in the spreadsheet provided along with this report.

The spreadsheet shows that 1,977 people died within 28 days of having the Pfizer mRNA jab, 3,643 people died within 28 days of having the AstraZeneca viral vector jab, and 2 people died within 28 days of having the Moderna mRNA jab.

The reason people have been requesting to know the number of people to have died within 28 days of having a Covid-19 vaccine is because these are the exact same parameters that have been used to count alleged Covid-19 deaths for the majority of the alleged pandemic.

Deaths are counted as Covid-19 if they occur within 28 days of a positive test, however, in the beginning they were actually counting deaths as Covid-19 if they occurred within 60 days of a positive test.

But it would seem PHE have been able to elude the requests made for the number of people who have died after having the Covid-19 jab thanks to a technicality. That technicality being the number of days used in their request, because we have discovered that they do hold the data on the number of people to have died after having a Covid-19 injection.

But it isn't the number of people who have died within 28 days, it is instead the number of people who have died within 21 days of having a Covid-19 vaccine, and the figures have just been published inadvertently by the Office for National Statistics.

A report published by the ONS

(<https://www.ons.gov.uk/peoplepopulationandcommunity/birthsdeathsandmarriages/deaths/articles/deathsinvolvingcovid19byvaccinationstatusengland/deathsoccurringbetween2januaryand2july2021>) on September 13th 2021 was a clear attempt to dupe the public into believing the majority of Covid-19 deaths are occurring among the unvaccinated population. But the date parameters used in their report include a huge swathe of deaths that occurred during the second alleged wave of Covid-19 in January 2021, when barely anybody was vaccinated.

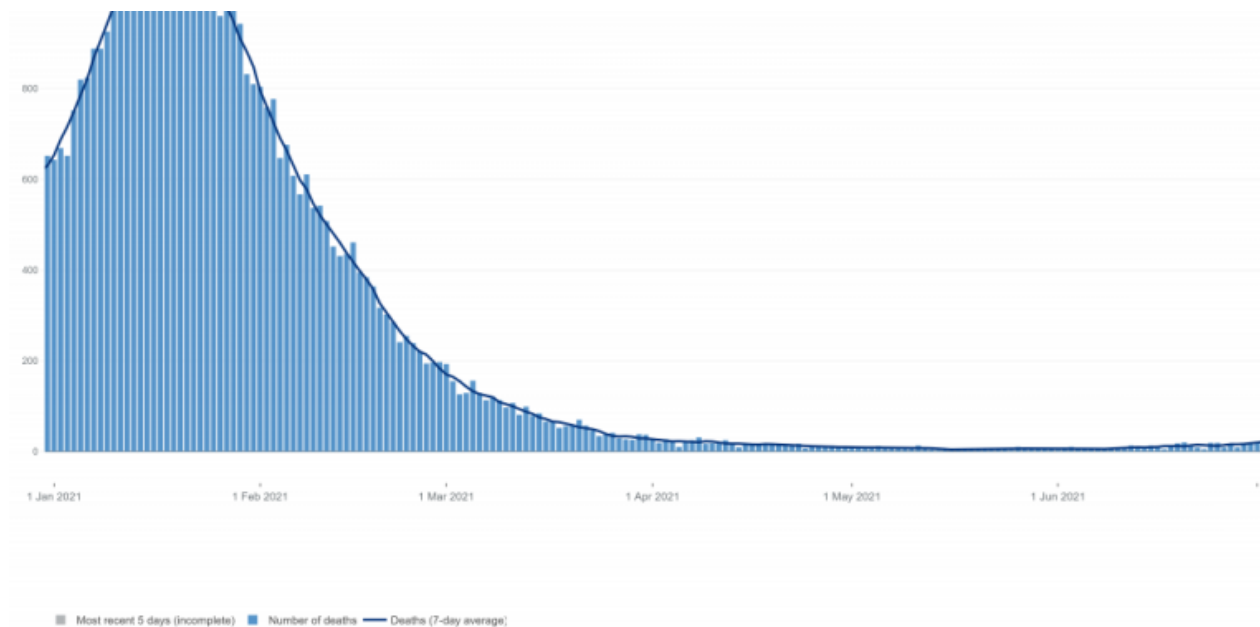

The cut off point was also the 2nd July 2021, meaning deaths that have occurred during the summer third wave that we are currently experiencing have not been included.

As you can see from the above graph taken from the UK Governments Covid-19 Dashboard (<https://coronavirus.data.gov.uk/details/deaths>) the vast majority of Covid-19 deaths during the period used in the ONS report occurred during the second wave when the vaccine programme had only just begun, so of course the vast majority of deaths occurred among the unvaccinated population.

However, if ONS had decided to cover the third wave that we are currently experiencing then you would have seen that 75% of people who have died with Covid-19 were in fact vaccinated, and just 25% of people who have died were not vaccinated.

Table 5 of Public Health England's 'Vaccine Surveillance Report' found here

(https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment_data/file/1016465/Vaccine_surveillance_report_-_week_36.pdf), shows that between August 9th and September 5th 2021 there were 600 Covid-19 deaths among the unvaccinated population, 97 deaths among the partly vaccinated population, and 1,659 deaths among the fully vaccinated population.

So as you can see the vast majority of deaths during this current wave of Covid-19 are occurring among the vaccinated population, but of course ONS didn't want you to know that so they left it out. But we bet they didn't plan on revealing the number of people who have died within 21 days of having a Covid-19 vaccine like they have.

Table 1 of the ONS report (found here)

(<https://www.ons.gov.uk/peoplepopulationandcommunity/birthsdeathsandmarriages/deaths/articles/deathsinvolvingcovid19byvaccinationstatusengland/deathsoccurringbetween2januaryand2july2021>) is an attempt to show how well the Covid-19 vaccines have been at preventing deaths. But don't forget they've only covered the first 6 months of the year where the vast majority of deaths occurred when the majority of the population were not vaccinated.

However, by attempting to dupe the public into believing the Covid-19 vaccines have worked at preventing deaths the ONS have revealed that 30,305 people died within 21 days of having a Covid-19 vaccine in England between January 2nd and July 2nd 2021.

Deaths 21 days or more after second dose	458	57,263	0.8

Source: Office for National Statistics – National Immunisation Management Service, NHS Test and Trace

As you can see above 14,265 people died within 21 days of having the first dose of a Covid-19 vaccine, and 4,388 people died within 21 days of having the first dose of a Covid-19 vaccine whose death allegedly involved Covid-19.

Another 11,470 people died within 21 days of having their second dose of having a Covid-19 vaccine, and 182 people died within 21 days of having their second dose of a Covid-19 vaccine whose death allegedly involved Covid-19.

Therefore 30,305 people died within 21 days of having the Covid-19 vaccine in England during the first 6 months of 2021.

What's interesting to note here is that a further 123,796 people died 21 days or more after having the Covid-19 vaccine, and we're very eager to know how many of those occurred up to 28 days after being vaccinated, or even 60 days after being vaccinated considering they have and still do use this parameter to count Covid-19 deaths.

But for now we will have to settle for knowing the official number of people to have died in England within 21 days of having a Covid-19 vaccine during the first 6 months of 2021, and that number is 30,305, and we doubt it's a number the authorities actually wanted us to know.

Do we know how many died in Scotland within 21 days of a jab?

If so, we would have enough data to make a good estimate of the 0-28 day jab deaths in England (and UK).

No, but the 28 days data for Scotland should be useful enough to estimate 28 days for England.

This is all meaningless unless we know the cause of death and ages of those who died within 21 days of being stuck with the poison. The majority of these could be natural causes due to old age for all we currently know. During a normal year, 1700+ people die in the UK every day of any cause you wish to name. It's no surprise that 30300 have died over six months within 21 days of being jabbed. Under normal circumstances, I'd have expected an average of 250000 people to have died during a 6 month period.

Total UK deaths in 2019 were ~530k. We'd therefore expect to see an average 30577 deaths in any 3 week period.

Why, then, without causality data, is 30305 deaths within three weeks of a vaccine the horror story your article seeks to suggest?

Puzzled. Questioning everything at the moment.

I think I understand your question, and I have thought about this as well, but I still believe the data presented here shows an increase in the number of deaths one would expect.

One would expect to see around 30,000 if looking at the ENTIRE population, yet here we see 30,000 only in the much smaller group of people who happened to be vaccinated in the past 21 expected in the general population.

I wish I could better explain this, but if we assume ALL the deaths were not related to the vaccine that would mean for 21 days the only people dying had just been vaccinated and we know that is not the case.

Yes I have been thinking about this and reached the same conclusion; came on here to discover what is the best estimate of how many people had the jab in that 6 month period? By the end of June there were 38 million had at least one jab

I expect there's some pretty complex maths to pull an estimate out of this data for how many would be expected to die in this period without the jabs...

So I don't see how many people die normally. 30,000 die within 20+ days of the jab. So what? How many people normally die within that time frame?

In the USA, I'm told that the vaccinated are not counted as such until 14 days after their jab. Can you please check if this rule applies to the UK (e.g. if it is an international practice).

Are you saying, that if someone got the jab and dies within the first 14 days, they are not considered a casualty of the vaccine? If that is what you're saying and if it is infact true, then there are far more casualties from the vaccine than is recorded or that they plan to record in order to hide the true numbers

ONS monthly death report England: Jan -June 2019 = 253,200. Jan -June 2021 = 282,763. Circa 30,000 difference The actual ons month stats for 2021 state 282,763 not 265,982 as per this report. So I see 30,000 deaths higher between 2019 and 2021....are they then all death by jabs if we actually use the correct ONS Jan-June 2021 numbers
